Description:

If you are designing an interior in an old country style along with with antique pieces, this fabric would certainly help to set the scene. A very traditional upholstery fabric, set in a design that could have been created 200 years ago. Great for pubs and hotels with a traditional stately home style. Earthy colours of forest greens, wheat beige and russet are woven together in large panels. The large flowers are woven in a pale wheat beige shade and are shaded using a mix of colours to create russet and brick red tones. The floral panels depicting roses are about 7 inches in width, and the stripe panels in dark green shades measure about 4 inches wide. The fabric itself is tough and durable with a coating underneath to add strength.
