Hemp is a sustainable and eco-friendly fabric made from the fibres of the hemp plant, which are processed using a closed-loop system. It combines the durability and natural benefits of hemp with the smooth, a fibre made from wood pulp. The result is a luxurious, breathable, and biodegradable fabric that is both soft to the touch and highly absorbent. Hemp Tencel is perfect for eco-conscious consumers, as it's produced with minimal environmental impact, offering a comfortable and stylish alternative to traditional fabrics. It's ideal for clothing, bedding, and other textile applications that prioritise sustainability without sacrificing comfort.
